Village school is saved

■ SAVED! Musbury Primary pupils celebrate with acting headteacher John Montgomery after hearing that their school will not be closed

MUSBURY Primary School can once again be the obvious first-choice for pupils in the area.

That was the verdict after education bosses revealed the school has been saved from closure thanks to a federation with Sidmouth Primary School.

A threat of closure had been hanging over the school for some time, but the rescue deal was revealed on Thursday, January 30th.

A Devon County Council spokesperson said: "The school is to federate with Sidmouth Primary School whose executive head, Paul Walker, has been helping to run Musbury Primary School for the past term."

A very happy Mr Walker said: "We are delighted to join with Sidmouth Primary School in Two Valleys Federation and I believe our dedicated staff and our experience will help bring about rapid improvements."

"I am very grateful for the support I have already had from staff, parents, governors and the wider community in Musbury and I look forward to working closely with them in the future."

Breathing space

The future of the school had been in doubt since pupil numbers dropped to single figures. Currently there are 14 pupils.

In an attempt to give the school breathing space and work out a long-term strategy, the school entered a management partnership with Sidmouth, which will now be formalised through the new Two Valleys Federation after half-term.

Pupil numbers have already started rising again at Musbury, but Mr Walker stressed it was vital to recruit more pupils from the local area.

He said: "We want Musbury to be, once again, first choice for all the families in our area because of the first-class education we aim to provide in a family setting."

He was very recently given official backing with the release of a report by school standards agency Ofsted.

By Anders Larsson

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

Ofsted inspected Musbury Primary School at the beginning of term and concluded it required improvement because the variable teaching over the past two years meant too many pupils did not achieve as well as they could.

But lead inspector John Laver added: "The current leadership recognises the inconsistencies which have been typical of the teaching for some time and is addressing them."

Local football washed out again

ONCE again the elements played havoc with the scheduled fixtures in the local football scene at the weekend.

Both SIDMOUTH TOWN and AXMINSTER TOWN had their South-West Peninsula League Division One (East) games washed out.

Sidmouth will hope for better on Saturday when they are due to entertain new league leaders Gallop-ton United. Frustratingly Axminster have no game.

It was a similar story in the Devon & Exeter and Perry Street & District Leagues with just eight matches surviving in each.

IN the D&E Premier both FENITON and SEATON TOWN tasted defeat.

Fenny went down 2-0 on their own Acland Park turf against a St Martins side that had two players sent off but still moved to within a point of leaders Newtown.

Seaton lost ground on the top three when they slipped to a 4-2 reverse at Budleigh Salterton Reserves' Greenway Lane.

The big cup tie at the weekend sees HONITON TOWN attempting to reach the Devon Senior cup semi-finals when they travel to take on South Devon League Division One promotion chasers Dartmouth FC.

From the editor's chair A real Devon night out

ALTHOUGH born in Dorset I hail from a long line of Devonshire folk and for a while during my training on the Express & Echo and Western Times I spent some time working in the north of the county where my parents grew up.

In fact, my mum and dad met on the swingboats at the famous Widdecombe Fair so I was looking forward to listening to the "Widdecombe Wag" himself, Tony Beard, who was booked by the Colyton and Colyford branch of Cancer Research UK for a supper and evening of entertainment at Colyton Town Hall on Friday evening.

Of course, the town was full to capacity, as is mostly the case at any event in Colyton, and it is always a pleasure to attend an event organised by the ladies of the Colyton and Colyford committee.

They were the inspiration behind the formation of a fundraising committee in my home town after my wife went through a cancer scare a few years ago and of which I'm the chairman. We have copied a number of their fundraising ideas, particularly the Big Breakfast, which is a major earner for both branches.

The team of ladies in Colyton have raised tens of thousands of pounds over the years for Cancer Research UK and Friday's enjoyable event added another £900 to their total.

Tony Beard has a huge following in Devon through his Sunday morning request programme on BBC Radio Devon, which he has been hosting for 30 years. He used to be in much demand as a cabaret act but now restricts his personal appearances to after dinner speeches.

He is hugely enthusiastic about preserving the Devonshire accent and he had the Colyton audience in fits with his rustic songs and poems.

During the break when supper was served Tony sat with Jackie and I and we had a chat about how country life was being eroded in so many ways and how important it was to protect and perpetuate the Devonshire customs.

It has always bugged me that a West Country accent is often associated with being a little slow on the uptake. When I moved to London to take over the managing of a big newspaper group, I think the staff thought I would arrive sucking a piece of straw. I overheard one of them referring to me as a "yokel" - but I never heard it repeated after I sacked 120 of them in one day.

COLYTON

Jobs under threat at CeramTec factory

ONE of Colyton's biggest employers, CeramTec UK Ltd., is under threat of closure as profitability has "declined steadily" over the past 10 years.

Staff were told last week that the future of the technical ceramics company, which has operated in Colyton for more than 40 years, was under consideration. The possible closure means "a number of jobs may be at risk".

A statement issued last week said that the company was currently consulting with workplace representatives to discuss the possibility of avoiding or reducing the number of redundancies in their event of closure, and that the group would support staff in any way it could.

On January 29th, chief technical officer of the international CeramTec group, Sigurd Adler, issued the following statement: "The profitability and viability of the CeramTec UK Ltd. production facility at Colyton has declined steadily over the last 10 years."

"Huge efforts have been made by the company and its hardworking employees to improve profitability through a variety of initiatives, but these have sadly not been enough to counter the effect of the overall economic situation, and changing market conditions affecting the group's UK business and there seems little prospect of significant future improvement."

"The group is therefore considering closing production at its Colyton facility, selling the site and passing current products to their group global network. If that were to happen, the group would be able to make and distribute these products at a reduced overall cost, with a view to extending their viable life within the group."

"This possibility unfortunately means that a number of jobs may be at risk, and the company has now started a consultation process with workplace representatives about this."

SIDMOUTH

Line-up for the 60th folk festival

ACTS have been announced for the Diamond anniversary of Sidmouth's annual Folk Week festival, which organisers promise will be a celebration of music and dance.

As well as acts for the festival itself, (August 1st - August 8th), organisers have announced that one of the UK's greatest musical storytellers, Ralph McTell, will be in Sidmouth for a special appearance at a pre festival special on Thursday, July 31st.

Celebrating more than 40 years on the road himself, Ralph is a Sidmouth veteran, having played at the 50th festival in 2004. A Lifetime Achievement Award winner at the BBC Radio 2 Folk Awards, Ralph is renowned for both his virtuoso guitar style and his gift as a songwriter, most notably the poignant Streets of London.

Other headliners throughout Folk Week include England's number one traditional singing family, The Copper Family; legendary ambassadors of Scottish music, Aly Bain and Phil Cunningham; Irish songbird Cara Dillon; festival patron Steve Knightley and Friends; and one of Scotland's freshest new acts, Breabach.

A special WWI commemoration will be staged on August 4th, the 100 year anniversary of the start of the First World War. To mark this event Roy Bailey and Robb Johnson will perform "Gentle Men: A history of the First World War through the lives of Pt Ern Johnson and Pt Harry Jenner".

OTTERY St MARY New plan to meet patients' needs

COLERIDGE Medical Centre has introduced an appointment system based on newly formed teams of GPs.

The new system will mean that small teams of GPs will collaborate to ensure they know the medical history of all the patients in their care so if one GP is unavailable, another can step in and will already be informed of the patient's needs.

Dr Sam Cole explained: "Our new system will encourage you to see your own registered GP. This is by far the safest most effective and efficient way for both patients and doctor."

"It means that when you see your own doctor the appointment will be about you and your current problem rather than being asked to go over your past problems with a doctor who does not know you."

"To ensure that you can usually get an appointment with a doctor who knows you our GPs are going to work in teams."

"Therefore if your own doctor is unavailable you can see or speak to another doctor within the same team."

"Behind the scenes this doctor may already be reviewing your test results, signing your repeat prescriptions and reading your own doctor's post."

Patients are asked to play their part by making routine appointments well in advance.

Dr Cole explained: "For routine, non-urgent appointments we would like you to book appointments two to three weeks in advance. This enables us to manage our urgent appointments more effectively."

He also said that phone consultation might be offered for "semi-urgent" needs and that receptionists will be on hand to find the right type of appointment for all nature of ailments.

'Iron Age' roundhouse is discovered at Cloakham

Archaeologists have discovered a roundhouse, possibly from the Iron Age, under a piece of land at Cloakham Lawn in Axminster.

The discovery was made during a routine archaeology survey, paid for by a developer as part of the planning application process.

Ian Barnes of Cotswold Archaeology said: "Progress on site has been good considering the inclement weather and we expect to hand the site back to Bovis Homes around the second week of February."

"We will then have a clearer idea of what we have found as dating evidence remains quite limited, but to date we can say that we have uncovered a very small amount of pottery and at least one roundhouse, which may date from the Iron Age, and some ditches of possible Roman date.

"Once we have left the site we will set about cataloguing the finds and photographs, and will be available to meet and discuss the items with local organisations or individuals who may have an interest in local history."

Malcolm Gilmore of Bovis Homes added: "We're delighted to have funded this project and hope that the finds that Ian and his team have made will be of interest to local people."

Police alert over bogus photos

AXMINSTER police have asked residents to be on their guard if asked to buy photos from a man claiming to work for the Environment Agency.

The alert was issued after PCSO Andrew Trott received a report from a concerned member of the public about a man trying to sell photos of the Axminster area at £35 each.

A police spokesperson said: "Checks have been done with the Environment Agency, who have confirmed they do not have anyone in the area selling items."

"The man was described as being around 5ft 9" tall in his 40s wearing a flat cap and dark clothing with black shoes. Any reports of this man being in your area can be reported via our 101 number, quoting log 286 of January 21st.

"Residents are asked to exercise caution when answering the door to cold callers, ask for identification, close your door and phone the number on any identification given to confirm the cold caller's ID."

"If you have cold callers and are dubious as to their authenticity, please call Devon and Cornwall Police on 101."

has helped to address some of the weaknesses.

"The current leadership has a very accurate understanding of the school's strengths and weaknesses."

"It is committed to pursuing excellence and the school's planning for improvement focuses on the appropriate priorities."

"The improvements already made demonstrate the school can improve further."

Sidmouth Primary's most recent Ofsted report said the school's leadership and management were outstanding while achievement, teaching and behaviour were all good."

Mr Walker said: "We are delighted to join with Musbury in the Two Valleys Federation and I believe our dedicated staff and our experience will help bring about rapid improvements."

Local county councillor Andrew Moulding said: "I have been following closely the progress that has been made since Paul Walker and temporary acting head of school, John Montgomery, have been assisting the school."

"The local community has been tremendously supportive during this period of change and I am sure that the new Two Valleys Federation will provide every opportunity for a sustainable future for Musbury Primary School."

"It is my opinion that under new leadership and shared governance, provided by the federation with Sidmouth Primary School, the school will return to its strong position, offering high-quality education to students from Musbury and the surrounding area."

Police reveal 'staggering' drink driving figures

THE proportion of positive results from breath tests for Christmas 2013 was higher than the year before, new figures released by Devon and Cornwall Police reveal.

Police administered 1,326 breath tests, of which 167 were positive, refused or failed to provide – 12.5 per cent of the total. In 2012 only 11.8 per cent of those tested produced positive results.

A 28-year-old woman from Devon was caught more than four times over the limit during the Christmas period.

However, the proportion of positive breath tests following a collision was lower this year, with just 21 out of 361 found positive.

Inspector Richard Pryce, Roads Policing Inspector, said: "The overall percentage of positive tests is slightly higher which is disappointing. The positive drink driving figure is still too high.

"Some of the detection results we had are staggering. I find it utterly incredible that some individuals will drive after drinking so much as to be three or four times the drink drive limit.

by Jack Dixon
j.r_dixon@hotmail.com

"They show scant regard for the lives of other people on the road. For some, clearly the messages are not getting through.

"As always, catching drink drivers is a year-round priority for us and we will continue to crack down on drink and drug driving to actively contribute to making our roads safer."

New figures also reveal overall crime in Devon and Cornwall has fallen by 2.6 per cent in 2013 – a reduction of 2,235 crimes – but the incidence of certain types of offence has risen sharply.

The force has seen reductions in burglary, vehicle offences and criminal damage, but violence without injury, public order offences and sexual offences were all up by more than 10 per cent.

Devon and Cornwall Deputy Chief Constable, Bill Skelly, highlighted alcohol as a frequent cause of violent behaviour in the region, and said the force is looking at ways to manage the problem.

He said: "There is no doubt that violent and sexual offences are aggravated and at times caused by alcohol, and that it also impacts heavily on areas such as domestic abuse. We estimate alcohol to be involved in at least 35 per cent of violent crime, so the consumption, licensing and selling of alcohol is having a huge impact on communities. There is already extensive work going on with partners and the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner to look at how this can be most effectively managed."

Deputy Chief Constable Skelly added: "The figures show Devon and Cornwall remains a safe place to live, work and visit.

"A small rise in crime in some areas does not make Devon and Cornwall less safe, but none the less, we have to constantly observe crime trends to reduce offences and work with our partners to deal with the root cause of them as soon as possible."

Petition to fight youth service cuts

A PETITION to stop fundamental change in Devon County Council's (DCC) youth service has been started by a team including teenage youth service volunteer Alfie Weaver from Sidmouth.

DCC last week presented plans for what it called "a targeted" youth service approach, which would mean the council would no longer run traditional centre-based activities for all youths.

A DCC spokesperson said: "The council is considering moving from a universal service to a more targeted approach aimed at early help and prevention.

"Skilled youth workers would work with social workers and other partners to identify and provide early help and support to vulnerable young people and those most at risk.

"This targeted approach means the county council would no longer manage or run more traditional centre-based activities aimed at universal support for all youngsters.

"Community and voluntary groups and others with an interest will be invited to suggest alternative models or express an interest in taking over any of the council's 34 youth centres as part of the 12 week consultation."

The spokesperson said: "The proposal is a response to a recent critical Ofsted report and budget.

"The youth service currently costs £3.7 million a year and employs 114 full-time-equivalent (FTE) staff.

"The county council has to save £110 million from its spending by 2017 and has consistently warned that all services would come under the spotlight."

In the intro to the petition, Mr Weaver promised a fight against the proposals, saying: "Why has the government and local authorities chosen to tackle youth services?

"This is simply because the voting age is 18+ meaning that we cannot have a say through vote on what goes on in our country.

"What they don't realize is we will fight until our youth services are safe. We will not put up with them being closed down."

DCC's consultation is available online at new.devon.gov.uk/youthreview and the petition at www.change.org/en-GB/petitions/john-hart-protect-our-youth-services-from-budget-cuts

NHS chief to leave role

NORTHERN Devon Healthcare NHS Trust (NDHT) chief executive Jac Kelly, pictured right, will leave her role in April.

Among other things, NDHT manages community hospitals in Axminster, Honiton, Seaton, Sidmouth and Ottery.

NDHT chairman Roger French said: "Jac has always been very open that she planned to leave in 2014 and whilst we regret that this time has come, I am incredibly proud to have worked alongside Jac Kelly for the last three years."

Ms Kelly commented: "It was not an easy decision, but having first arrived in 2006 as turnaround director, I feel that I should now hand on to someone else to lead the organisation to foundation trust status.

"I feel extremely fortunate in having worked with so many dedicated and skilled staff, who are always willing to make that extra effort on behalf of patients and their families.

"Frontline or support, trainee or executive, the progress we have made in the past eight years is down to them."

NDHT has started the search for a new chief executive.

In the interim, director of finance and deputy chief executive Andy Robinson will assume the role.

News briefs

Burglars spotted breaking into shop

BURGLARS were disturbed by a member of the public after breaking into a shop and showroom in Trafalgar Way, Axminster.

Police were called to Axminster Tools & Machinery just before 7pm on Tuesday January 28th.

PC Simon Rodgers of Axminster police said: "Persons unknown have broken into the showroom by forcing the rear doors.

"They have been disturbed by a member of the public who then contacted police.

"Police are appealing for witnesses and are very interested to hear from anyone who saw a dark-coloured 4x4 vehicle acting suspiciously in the area during this time."

Anyone with information is asked to call the force switchboard on 101.

The crime reference is KA/14/43. Information can also be given to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Busy year for the twinnings

AXMINSTER Twinning Association looked back on a busy 2013 when members met for the combined annual general meeting and dinner at Ridgeway Country Hotel, Smallbridge.

Caroline Hillyard was re-elected as chairman and she reported that 2013 had been a very successful year, with more new members being welcomed.

In April members visited the twin town of Douvres la Delivrande in Normandy.

The Douvraise reciprocated in June by visiting Axminster for Axe Vale Festival.

Three months later, in September, an Axminster contingent returned to France for an equestrian event.

Social events in 2013 included a very successful quiz evening, skittles and guided visits to wetlands at Colyford, shared suppers and a film night. The year ended with an excellent Christmas party, it was reported.

Looking forward, the association plans a visit to Douvres in June to participate in the D-Day commemorations.

The Douvraise will visit Axminster in July, and Axminster Twinning Association will again attend the equestrian event in France in September.

Society member David Gale said: "New members are always welcome.

"Being able to speak French is not a requirement, but an appreciation of French culture and a good social life is."

If you would like more information, contact Caroline Hillyard on 01297 34497 or membership secretary Jasmine Littlewood on 01297 32755.

Devoted Annabel fans

AXMINSTER girl Annabel Davies couldn't break into the top five in the Open Mic UK Grand Final (U16), but put in a performance to be proud of.

Having negotiated her way to the final via local and regional qualifiers, Annabel was one of 25 finalists at The NEC in Birmingham on Saturday, January 18th.

The 12-year-old Woodroffe School pupil had brought a coachload of fans, so was well-backed.

She had qualified for the final with a rendition of Titanium, by David Guetta in the previous stage, but changed to Somebody To Love by Queen for the final.

The jury's verdict was: "Annabel, You have come on so well in the competition. "You performed well and have nice strong vocals, but try and choose more of an appropriate song that can really show off more of your vocal range.

"Work on your stage presence and delivery to really shine."

Annabel's mother Sue said: "She performed really well, we're really proud.

"She was happy and really pleased with how it all went. She was the very first act on."

Open Mic UK searches for the UK's best singers, singer/songwriters, rappers and vocalists of all genres who perform either covers or original material.

Crash victim cut free by fire brigade

TWO people were taken to hospital after an accident on the A35 near Shute.

The accident happened in the afternoon of Thursday January 30th at about 2.15pm, and involved a WV van and a Peugeot 307.

A spokesperson for the fire and rescue service said: "Initial reports were two vehicles involved and two persons trapped. Once on scene, crews used hydraulic cutting equipment to release a casualty, with the other being free and clear of their vehicle."

The ambulance sent three vehicles to the scene, two being used to convey a casualty each to hospital in Exeter.

The injuries sustained have not been disclosed but a police spokesperson described them as "non-life threatening".

Police shut off a stretch off the road and put in place diversions.

The road was reopened at 5.05pm

PAYDAY: The Axminster Tools & Machinery human resources team – Fran Cook, Jane Boulton and Samantha Barry

A first for Axminster – all workers on a living wage

AXMINSTER Tools & Machinery has become the town's first Living Wage accredited employer.

The accreditation is awarded by The Living Wage Foundation and any employer committed to paying at least The Living Wage can seek accreditation.

For areas outside London, The Living Wage is currently £7.65 an hour, compared to the UK minimum wage of £6.31 an hour.

A company spokesperson explained: "With the exception of anyone on our Apprenticeship Scheme, no one earns less than £7.65 per hour.

"The apprentices are on a learning programme with regular increments so that by the time they have completed their apprenticeships they will be on a wage/salary appropriate to their qualifications, progress and experience which is set above both the minimum wage and the living wage. We currently have five apprentices."

In 2005 the Greater London Authority established the Living Wage Unit to calculate the London Living Wage.

The Living Wage campaign has since grown into a national movement, and the Living Wage is calculated by the Centre for Research in Social Policy.

Axminster Tools & Machinery human resources director Jane Boulton said: "The shareholders and board strive to be a quality employer, so by receiving this status it contributes towards this vision.

"Just because we live in a rural area, does not mean that people cannot earn their market value.

"As a company we want to attract talent and experience to support us in our growth. "If your staff feel valued, then they will work harder and become more engaged in the company increasing productivity and sales; it all makes good business sense."

According to The Living Wage Foundation's most recent list there is only one other accredited company in East Devon, BakeryBits Limited in Honiton.

Reprieve for healthy food charity after generous gifts

HEALTH and Local Food For Local Families (HALFF) will not have to scale down its operations and move out of its headquarters.

Generous individuals and organisations rallied to raise the £5,000 required for HALFF to stay in its South Street headquarters for another year.

HALFF needed to raise another £800 to

by Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

reach its target - and a cheque for that amount from Bevis & Beckingsale Solicitors clinched it.

HALFF's Laura O'Rourke said: We have been overwhelmed by the support from the local community, and are pleased to report that the shop will continue to be open for business in 2014." She praised everyone who had contributed, and added: "It all adds up and makes a difference, and shows the service we provide is recognised and that people don't want us to close."

Substantial donations were made by Bevis & Beckingsale, Rotary Club of Axminster, Axminster Care Service plus an anonymous contributor who gave £1,000.

Mark Carlisle of Bevis & Beckingsale said: "My mother was an NHS Nurse and often used to say that all the money and possessions in the world could not make up for bad health."

Sensible diet

"Without good health life is pretty miserable. "Clearly one of the fundamentals of good health is a sensible and nutritional diet. Carers, whether of adults or children, are often responsible for others' diets but this frequently is forgotten.

"It is an important responsibility and therefore training of carers is very important.

"I have been coaching rugby now for many years in the age ranges from 7 up to 16 and it is quite obvious that despite all of their efforts young boys who are very overweight suffer, cannot keep up with their team mates and as a result, lag behind and eventually give up.

"It is therefore a self-perpetuating circle. Those that actually need the exercise the most do not get it and that is largely down to parents not appreciating the importance of a sensible diet.

"It makes obvious sense that it is better to teach people to eat properly rather than having to treat the symptoms of a poor diet - whether this is heart disease, diabetes, strokes etc."

READER'S DIGEST: Sarah Jones and county councillor Andrew Moulding at Axminster Library

Personal service with a smile at the library

COUNTY councillor Andrew Moulding is promoting a forthcoming one-off personal shopper service at Axminster Library.

The service is being offered from 9.30 am-1 pm on Saturday, February 8th as part of Love Libraries Day.

People can book a 15-minute slot with a librarian at the Devon County Council-run facility to find a suitable book or author.

The service is free of charge and it is hoped it will help to make Axminster Library even more popular.

As part of preparations, county councillor Moulding took part in a dummy run with Axminster Library supervisor Sarah Jones.

He said: "The service is a good opportunity for both current library users and those who are not yet members to see what the library has to offer.

"I am sure it will rekindle the reading habit for lots of people in Axminster.

"Having tried out the service myself I can thoroughly recommend it - lovely chat about reading, great book recommendations and all with a smile."

Lyme Bay Law is open for business

NEW LAW IN TOWN | Elaine Gamwell of new firm Lyme Bay Law with the Mayor of Seaton, Councillor Gaynor Sedgwick, and town crier David Craner

THE Mayor of Seaton, Councillor Gaynor Sedgwick, officially opened a new law firm in the town recently.

Well-known local trust and estate practitioner, Elaine Gamwell, has returned to Seaton after living away from the area for a couple of years to open her own practice, Lyme Bay Law, in Queen Street.

Elaine says the practice provides a "fresh, new alternative to traditional legal service providers" with accessibility, personal attention and value for money at the heart of the business.

Elaine has been involved in wills, probate and private client matters all her working life and, before her recent spell living away, has worked in local firms specialising in administration of estates, powers of attorney and trusts, and has recently developed her specialism to include court of protection applications.

Elaine is a member of the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners, a nationally-recognised professional body open only to specialist private practitioners, and a member of the Institute of Professional Will Writers.

Speaking on her personal, client-focused approach, Elaine said: "It's vital to understand exactly what a client's concerns and objectives are before embarking on any work, and all first consultations are always without charge and can take place in our offices in Seaton, or in the comfort of the client's home."

Elaine added that the firm will agree a fixed fee for clients' requests at competitive prices, which are not subject to the addition of VAT.

Lyme Bay Law is currently offering an introductory offer for the preparation of single basic wills for £50 and mirror basic wills (for couples) for £90.

The mayor was joined by town crier David Craner for the official launch, plus members of Seaton Chamber of Commerce.

All are welcome to drop into Lyme Bay law at 48 Queen Street without obligation, and a free coffee morning will be held on Saturday, February 1st.

Visit the website www.lymebaylaw.co.uk for further details.

Countdown to panto

by Kevin Fahey

PREPARATIONS for Beer's pantomime are moving up a gear as the countdown to the live performances scheduled for the end of the month ticks ever closer.

Director Jon Chilcott and his team, drawn mainly from Beer but also including people from Seaton, are working hard to put the finishing touches to the production of Goldilocks and the Three Bears at the Mariners' Hall from Friday, February 21st - Sunday, February 23rd.

"It is a group effort with everyone doing bits and bobs towards the production," said Chilcott, who is in charge for the second successive year.

"I am a big fan of the old-fashioned village panto in village halls where people in the audience know those performing on the stage and we have a very intimate atmosphere here in the Mariners' Hall."

Chilcott has been involved in pan-tomimes on and off his whole life and since moving to the area from Taunton six years has enthusiastically rekindled his love affair with this traditional form of British entertainment.

"It is a lot of fun and I love the fact that whole families, from grandparents to children, can come along and enjoy it," added Chilcott, who also wrote the script.

"There is a little bit of panic setting in with only a few weeks to go but as they say in the theatre I'm sure it will be alright on the night!"

Tickets for the production, which will feature performances on the Friday and Saturday evenings with a matinee on Sunday go on sale this week from Beer Newsagents and the Post Office.

Tickets will cost £5 for adults and £2.50 for children.

Befriending service to help stop social isolation

A NEW service will help lonely and isolated people in and around Seaton.

Seaton and District Hospital League of Friends has created a befriending service in response to an increasing number of referrals – mainly from health and social care professionals.

The befriending service aims to alleviate social isolation and improve the health and wellbeing of people in Seaton and surrounding villages who may be feeling lonely and isolated for a variety of reasons.

These can include ill health, bereavement, life changes, being housebound, having limited social contact or lack of family and friends nearby.

League manager, Lycia Moore, said: "We receive a high volume of referrals and I would like to provide an important lifeline in the form of a volunteer befriender to support everyone referred to the service within as short a time as possible; as a result, we are looking to recruit additional volunteers to help deal with the demand.

"Befrienders are needed to visit people in their own homes once a week for a friendly chat over a coffee, or to give support to isolated people by helping them to go out for walks or to local groups and activities.

"Helping the lonely and isolated people within our community is very important to us, but we can't do it without the kind support and dedication of local volunteers.

"The role of befriender is very fulfilling and rewarding, and you will be making a real difference by helping to develop trusting and helpful relationships.

"Volunteers are not asked to do any personal care, domestic or medical tasks.

"The service is all about social contact as a means of improving the day to day life of the individual.

"Over the last few weeks, in addition to providing vital companionship, our befrienders have helped support their friends in many practical ways, such as writing Christmas cards for a partially sighted person and people with severe arthritis in their hands, also reading Christmas cards and helping to display them where they can be seen and enjoyed.

"In the cold weather befrienders, checked up on their 'friends' to make sure they were well and keeping warm."

All expenses incurred whilst volunteering are paid for by the league.

Volunteers are encouraged to attend regular coffee mornings to meet fellow volunteers, to receive additional training and also to have the opportunity to share experiences and provide general support for one another.

Lycia added: "In addition to our one-to-one befriending service and our monthly Friends in the Community Group, we are looking at providing other social groups, to enable people to re-connect with the community through activities that interest them.

"These groups may include a lunch club, singing and music group, bingo, scrabble and board games and seated exercise including yoga."

If you would like to know more, contact Lycia Moore on 01297 20143, 07939 362069 or email seatonLOF@nhs.net

Regular car boot sale for Beer?

BEER Forum is looking into the possibility of launching a regular car boot sale in the village.

Local business owners who attended the forum's first meeting of the year heard that East Devon District Council (EDDC) had agreed in principle to allow use of the main car park which is in the centre of the village.

"EDDC said we can use the car park during the winter months when it is not used so much," said forum secretary Jackie Tite, who owns the village off-licence.

"Councillor Geoff Pook told us it is definitely a possibility but we have to look closer at the rules and regulations involved and things like public liability.

"But I think that could help bring more people into the village, which should help all the shops and businesses and make better use of the car park but first we need to finalise some plans and take it from there."

Jackie was delighted with the response to the meeting which attracted over 20 people.

One of the key topics for discussion was the annual late night shopping event held in the village at the beginning of December.

"People agreed that it was a quiet event (in 2013) compared to previous years, so we want to improve things for 2014," added Jackie.

"We want to hold it at the same time again but it was suggested we could have events on the Saturday and Sunday as well. There were a lot of ideas made, including a suggestion to bring along a reindeer.

A lot of things need to be finalised and we will talk about it more at our next meeting on February 12th."

Conservatives report on a successful year

THE Colyton and Colyford Branch of the Tiverton and Honiton Conservatives Association reported an "excellent year" at their annual general meeting.

The meeting, held at Colyford Memorial Hall, was attended by 10 members, including district councillors Graham Godbeer, Helen Parr and Stephanie Jones, as well as Christopher Kimber, chairman of Axminster Area Conservatives.

Chairman Simon Card OBE reported on an excellent year, commenting: "The branch has continued to play its part within the Tiverton and Honiton Association with three key events during the last year, as well as our members attending other activities across the constituency, including the Axminster area meetings.

"Our dinner in March of last year was a great success when Tony Hogg, the recently appointed Police and Crime Commissioner for Devon, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly, was our guest, along with Neil Parish MP and his wife Sue as our other key guests.

"Our other two key activities were the charity clay shoot in April and our annual quiz night in October. The clay shoot at Widworthy Barton, by kind permission of Mr Thomas Kremer and Lady Alison Kremer, was a remarkable success given the appalling weather conditions on the day. Many thanks go to John Tristram in particular, as well as Michael Gardiner and Joy Sneath for all the splendid work they did in ensuring the event took place and was a success. The quiz night was also well attended and produced some good funds, as did the clay shoot.

"After a long and challenging battle the government we seem to be seeing the light at the end of the tunnel as far as the economy goes, although the Prime Minister has rightly warned that we have some way still to go. However, with some encouraging key data out this week we seem to be on the right track."

Officers elected for the coming year were: Denis Baker – President, Simon Card OBE – Chairman, John Tristram – Deputy Chairman, Michael Gardiner FCA – Secretary and Joy Sneath – Treasurer. Other committee members elected were Dr Bill Waterworth, Councillor Graham Godbeer and Councillor Helen Parr.

'Widdecombe Wag' has audience in fits

■ TOP: A crowded Town Hall for an evening with the "Widdecombe Wag" Tony Beard. BOTTOM: The Colyton and Colyford branch of Cancer Research UK pictured with Tony Beard.

ALL things Devon were on the menu when the Colyton and Colyford branch of Cancer Research UK organised an evening of entertainment.

The Town Hall was packed with more than 150 people on Friday evening to listen to Devonshire expert Tony Beard, known as the "Widdecombe Wag", give a talk on his beloved Dartmoor.

Born and bred in Widdecombe, where he has lived all his life, the former farmer-cum-all round entertainer had the audience in fits of laughter with his tales of Devon life and customs.

Mr Beard, also a BBC Radio Devon presenter, has a strong interest in the history and archaeology of Dartmoor and brought along a number of historic documents and artefacts for members of the audience to examine during the interval.

Mr Beard is also passionate about the Devon dialect and generated much amusement with his songs and poems.

A soup and sweet supper was served and the evening realised a profit of £909 for Cancer Research UK.

The Colyton committee's next big event will be their annual Big Breakfast at Colyton Town Hall on Friday, March 7th.

■ LONG-STANDING SERVICE: Shute parish councillor Peter Rugg receives a certificate from Colyton parish councillor Bob Collier

Councillor honoured for dedication to Shute parish

A PARISH councillor has been honoured for his long-standing service to the village of Shute.

Councillor Peter Rugg was presented a certificate at last week's meeting of the Axminster Committee of the Devon Association of Local Councils to mark his 58 years' service to Shute Parish Council.

The certificate was presented by vice-chairman of the committee and Colyton parish councillor, Bob Collier, at the meeting held in Whitford Village Hall.

Councillor Collier explained that the association had decided some time ago to mark the dedication of those who had served on a council for more than 40 years, commenting that there had been and continue to be many people who serve one area for a long period.

Both farmers, Councillor Collier said he first met Councillor Rugg during a particularly harsh winter in 1963. He joined Shute Parish Council aged 22 and had continuously served the area since, also as a special constable for 36 years, and had recently overcome a heart operation.

Pupils serve up cooked breakfasts

■ HUNGRY residents gathered at Hawkchurch Village Hall to enjoy a hearty full English breakfast served up by children from the primary school. The community breakfast, which is becoming a regular event in the village, was held to raise money for school funds and the Devon Air Ambulance. Children from the school waited on tables, taking orders and serving breakfast, while mums slaved away in the kitchen. The event has raised more than £200, which will be split between the two causes.

New footpath to run from Axmouth to Seaton

AXMOUTH Parish Council has gained approval and funding for a continuous footpath to be established through the village to the centre of Seaton.

The council won approval following years of constant pressure on Devon County Council and support from county councillor Jim Knight. It was one of the priorities highlighted by the local community in the Parish Plan.

A pedestrian footway will be constructed alongside the churchyard wall during March this year, providing safe disabled access to the church and safer access for pall bearers via the currently underused gate opposite the door to The Harbour Inn.

The pedestrian footway itself will run from Chapel Street to the centre of Seaton, at road level but separated from the traffic by a substantial kerb. To accommodate the footway, the road will be narrowed for vehicles along this stretch and additional warning signs advising "oncoming vehicles in the middle of the road" will be displayed on each approach.

Bollards will be placed on the footway adjacent to The Harbour Inn to protect the sunken access.

Parish councillors hope that these improvements will also control traffic speeds and improve the environment through the village.

Green wedge success was not down to district council

■ IT'S often said that journalism is the first draft of history. I'm hoping that your letters page will act as the second draft because I nearly choked on my porridge reading Councillor Helen Parr proclaiming her latest success in a planning matter... "to protect the landscape of East Devon against the wrong kind of development" (Pulman's View From Colyton, January 28th).

The fact is that, in the months leading up to her planning committee's decision on the green wedge development application between Colyford and Seaton, both Councillor Parr and her colleague Councillor Godbeer were making worrying noises about how "economic" arguments might trump the green wedge preservation policy.

The View's own correspondent wrote an accurate report of a meeting in Colyford, when a hall full of locals realised that they could not rely on their elected representatives to protect this site, and that they would need to go down with placards to the planning meeting. The attention generated by this put the application in the full media spotlight, as it deserved.

I spoke at that meeting, and had dug out Councillor Parr and Councillor Godbeer's manifesto for the last election, in which their number one promise was to protect the green wedge. I copied that promise to all members of the planning committee the weekend before and, together with 10 other technically-excellent speeches from the public, that left the committee no option in front of 100 or so people than to vote against. Councillor Parr, to everyone's mystification, and at our hour of need, abstained.

Howard and Anne West, and Robin and Bonte Pocock, then led a brilliant, selfless campaign to ensure our community was independently represented at the developer's appeal, where it emerged that East Devon planning officers had not commissioned the requisite bat surveys prior to determination. This nearly fatally weakened one of East Devon's strongest suits, but fortunately the inspector judged that the green wedge factor the campaigners had stressed would win the day.

The question for Councillor Parr is why, when Exeter had its Local Plan discussed four years ago and published two years ago, East Devon failed to do this. This failure of her allies on her watch left East Devon vulnerable to just such proposals for over-development as long as no plan is in place. This threat remains.

The credit for saving one of the most beautiful parts of the Axe Valley does not lie with her or her council, but with a model campaign by local people which, for the record, cost a number of locals rather a lot of money which she will, presumably, not be rebating from our council tax. And her council's actual reaction? A campaign to restrict public speaking rights in future!

PAUL ARNOTT,
Colyton

Disgrace to put bats before people

■ WHAT a headline and what a disgrace to put bats before people.

After all the previous rubbish ideas to regenerate Seaton since the holiday village closed, this is the only sensible one – to open Seaton heights would put Seaton back on the map as a holiday resort.

It's a pity the powers that be don't take a look at Beer – a thriving little holiday village, lovely places to eat and gift shops where visitors can buy gifts to take home. It improves every year.

M. BOWERS,
Seaton

'Batty' decision over Seaton Heights!

■ IT is batty about Seaton Heights and the bats – all of our animals, birds and insects will always find another place to exist.

For years in Seaton I have noticed a decline of our seasonal visitors, due to our permanent gull population. Every year in the past we were visited by house martins which had two nests in our front porch and, as our gull population got bigger, with no black bags to raid for food, I noticed that small bird fledglings, which consists of house martins, swallows, sparrows and linnets, as soon as they took light down come the gulls for an easy meal.

So the house martins nests have not been used over the last three years, in Seaton these days you hardly see a small bird.

Staff car parking charges would create extra income for council

■ REGARDING the refusal to introduce charges to the staff car parking area at East Devon District Council offices at the Knowle, Sidmouth:

I wrote a letter to you in February 2010 and I am not sure whether it was published, but I notice that, yet again, Councillor Roger Giles, in the interest of ratepayers, has made the same suggestion and it has again been turned down.

I wrote to you four years ago following a letter I had received from the leader of the council, who said that the main reason for the suggestion of introducing staff parking charges being turned down by the Overview and Scrutiny Committee was, and I quote, "Introducing fees to the car park at the council offices was not deemed a viable option at the present time as the use of the building as office accommodation was under review".

Surprise, surprise! Four years on and still no decisions despite large sums of money being spent on consultations and a project manager appointment. Am I missing something?

I thought the idea of EDDC moving offices was to save money and benefit us ratepayers, and yet I see in the latest press comments that £400,000 is being set aside towards removal costs, and that a loan of £4million is being considered to fund it!

I would again mention that most other councils, schools and the University of Exeter have been charging their staff for years, and other employees in Sidmouth have to pay for parking and I doubt are paid the levels of salary as are EDDC staff.

Roger Giles is right, £50,000 a year would be quite possible, and even if, and when, a decision is made about the future of the offices, I have no doubt it will be several more years before a move is made.

So, EDDC, just put a wooden shed at the entrance, give a job to someone local and make a bit of money to keep the rates down!

Threat to grammar school is history repeating itself

■ LAST Saturday a national newspaper reported that funding cuts threaten the future of England's grammar schools.

Paul Evans, head of Colyton Grammar, named the top performing secondary school in the country, said that the "viability of the school is questionable beyond 2017".

As a parent in 1978/79 I was involved in helping to save the school from politicians at Westminster who wanted to turn all grammar schools into comprehensives. It was a Conservative government and a Devon County Council controlled by Conservatives who were in power, and EU elections were due in 1979.

History is repeating itself, we have a Conservative government again hell bent on closing the remaining grammar schools and EU elections are due in May of this year. This time, help is at hand from UKIP, whose policy is to open more grammar schools and give bright children from poor (working class) backgrounds the chance of an excellent education.

We have a thriving branch in the area, see ukipdevon.org.uk and go to "Links".

What's so special about Busy Bees?

■ I FIND it absolutely incredible that, after all the years that the old Websters bus garage has been empty, and grown more and more derelict, to the point now where the building is collapsing, a sensible proposal is put forward to develop the site, only to be turned down because East Devon District Council think the old Busy Bee shop building is worth conserving – whatever for?

The shop is nothing special at all. I have spoken to a good many people in Axminster, I have yet to find anyone who wants to keep it, they are all only too keen for it to go – along with the garage, and redevelop the site to rid the town of an eyesore.

EDDC seem to have their own agenda on many local issues, which are totally against what the residents want from their locality, but they forge ahead no matter what we say – typical examples are the move of the council offices from The Knowle in Sidmouth to Honiton, the Beehive Centre in Honiton being built, allowing Tesco to build a store in Seaton, and now this foolishness in Axminster.

I am all for retaining buildings that are of particular architectural interest or significance to the local area, as that is important for our heritage, but as far as the old Busy Bee shop is concerned, no one will miss that going – what is so special about it? This is what we all want to know. The only thing of any significance that I can see – is the grass growing out of the chimneys!

I think it is about time these particular "conservation-ists" paid a visit to Specsavers, so they could see what they are looking at better, and maybe get their hearing checked too, so they can then hear what the majority of local residents want.

Fun taking part in 'Alice in Blunderland'

■ THIS week I took part in a show called "Alice in Blunderland".

It was my first time in a show like this. I think it was so good to be a part of it and I loved the fun of being on stage. The show was all about when Alice (played by Debbie) and Harvey (played by Sandra) fell in love.

My parts in the show were as a guard and in the chorus. The best part was when the Mad Hatter threw a pie at me (played by Jerry) and then the dormouse threw one in my face (played by Holly)!

It was a good show. I would like to say a big thank you to Lyn and Susan for getting me involved.

Seaton – 'there is no time to lose'

■ MOST of your correspondents are of the opinion that Seaton is in decline. This sad fact is due not just to the arrival of Tesco; in fact, the damage was started way back with the pedestrianisation of Fore Street and Queen Street.

Many of our residents are not so young and are not able to walk the length of Fore Street to patronise the shops there, much as they would like to; the banning of through vehicular traffic therefore denies these shops their valuable custom.

What is worse, as I have said on this page in the past, as a result of the pedestrian scheme, visitors arriving by car do not even get to see what the centre of the town has to offer or even know it is there.

I suggested to the previous town clerk that information boards be placed in all car parks displaying a map of the centre of the town with advertisements by the town's traders so that these visitors are made aware that there is more to Seaton than Tesco.

I regret to say that whilst my suggestion, which I submitted along with photographs of information boards in other towns, was received with apparent enthusiasm, no action transpired.

Now is the time to take a long hard look at our town and decide, before the season arrives, how we want visitors to see it and what reports of it we want them to take away with them.

Our mayor is very active in publicising new openings but unless she sits down with the Chamber of Commerce and accepts that more needs to be done to open up and publicise our town, businesses will continue to close down, as they undeniably are, and visitors will only see more empty shops.

Seaton will be an example of the law of diminishing returns. There is no time to lose.

Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

WE OPEN with news that one of the oldest parish magazines – in the Brontës' former home of Haworth, West Yorkshire – is to close after 115 years.

The monthly print of 200 copies is no longer being sold.

A similar situation has also been reported from the Church in Scotland.

In Devon, church magazines are currently well supported and electronic means are not seen as an alternative.

More difficult decisions face the Guides and Brownies whose members have to choose between God and their membership as their new oath omits God. The General Synod is to debate a private motion on this very soon.

The Church of the Holy Family Honiton has been saying goodbye to Bishop Christopher of Plymouth, who has been in place since 1986. His successor, who comes from Allen Hall Seminary in London, received his episcopal ordination in Plymouth on January 28th this year.

From Exeter Diocese comes news that their Reader's Administrator, Ron Edinborough, responsible for some 300 readers in ministry, retires in April, after a long innings. A successor will be named in due course.

The Church of England General Synod meets in London from Feb 10th-12th and has a mixed agenda as usual, headed by Women Bishops – the next steps; safeguarding of children and vulnerable adults; and progress over work with/by credit unions. A public gallery exists for those who wish to observe debates.

Time for other dates: Mon, February 24th – Sunday, March 9th is Fairtrade Fort-night and free leaflets and information are at www.fairtrade.org.uk with other local resources available from www.traidcraft.co.uk or calling 0845 330 8900.

The Exeter Diocese is aiming for the 100th Fairtrade Church – see www.exeter.anglican.org/yourchurch/fairandlocal

Later, flower festivals are planned in East Devon by Colyton Church for June 19th-22nd, whilst Branscombe Church has a Festival of Festivals between from September 19th-22nd.

The Devon Historic Churches Trust report that their Churches Day, incorporating Ride+Stride in 2013, raised just over £45,000; half has been returned to participating churches. The date for this year is Saturday, September 13th – do spread the word.

Dates from Ottery St Mary: February 8th sees a Melanesian supper in the parish church from 6-10pm, bring and share. Bishop George Cakeli of Timoto will attend. The Simply Living film about the Melanesian Brothers recent visit will be shown the same evening.

National Marriage Week will be celebrated on Saturday, February 15th at 5pm in Ottery Parish Church by the Mothers' Union. Come along if you wish to renew your vows, or remember relationships.

Morning services at the URC have begun a series of sermons that will follow the journey from the birth of Christ at Christmas to His death and resurrection at Easter at 10:30am on Sundays.

With annual church meetings looming and yearly accounts to approve, a fourth edition of 'PCC Accountability' – guidance on the Charities Act 2011 and help over preparation of financial statements – is available at £10.99 from C H Bookshop & others.

District council need to 'show the way'

■ THERE has been much in the local press lately about the heritage value of 9 Lyme Street, Axminster in connection with planning application 13/2590/COU, the replacement of the derelict Websters Garage, with a temporary car park.

Online, the heritage officer of East Devon District Council has stated: 'Whilst conservation area consent is no longer required...'

If this is correct then EDDC are entitled to ignore so called heritage considerations and consider the application on its merits and what it would offer to the people of Axminster.

If the application fails due to the consideration that 9 Lyme Street is an asset to the town worth preserving, then this would be a travesty.

It would be against the wishes of the town as expressed by its town council in strongest terms. It would be against the business interests of the town and it would offer no hope for the future development of the town.

Please remember the previous words of Mr Barton when he stated to council that both current traffic problems and retail opportunities did not make Axminster a good prospect for investment by his company, Hallmark Estates in the foreseeable future.

The demolition of Websters and 9 Lyme

Street would, at a stroke, remove the main eyesore within the town and provide, albeit temporary, much needed additional parking spaces.

Neither appear on a plan of the Heritage Area of Axminster as having any historical value. There is therefore no justification to retain either.

If Axminster is ever to improve its centre and offer the exciting experience it could, then now is the time to start.

EDDC needs to show the way forward by approving the application.

The Story of St. Valentine

IN 270 A.D., marriage had been outlawed by the emperor of Rome, Claudius II. Claudius issued this decree because he thought that married men made bad soldiers since they were reluctant to be torn away from their families in the case of war. Claudius had also outlawed Christianity in this time period because he wished to be praised as the one supreme god, the Emperor of Rome. Valentine was the bishop of Interamna during this period of oppression. Valentine thought that the decrees of Rome were wrong. He believed that people should be free to love God and to marry. Valentine invited the young couples of the area to come to him. When they came, Valentine secretly performed services of matrimony and united the couples.

Valentine was eventually caught and was brought before the emperor. The emperor saw that Valentine had conviction and drive that was unsurpassed among his men. Claudius tried and tried to persuade Valentine to leave Christianity, serve the Roman empire and the Roman gods. In exchange, Claudius would pardon him and make him one of his allies. St. Valentine held to his faith and did not renounce Christ. Because of this, the emperor sentenced him to a three-part execution. First, Valentine would be beaten, then stoned, and then finally, decapitated. Valentine died on February 14th, 270 A.D.

While in prison, waiting for his sentence to be carried out, Valentine fell in love with the jailer's daughter, the blind Asterius. During the course of Valentine's prison stay, a miracle occurred and Asterius regained her sight. Valentine sent her a final farewell note. He signed his last note, "From Your Valentine." Even today, this message remains as the motto for our Valentine's Day celebrations.

Axe Valley Motors

AXE Valley Motors has a long history, having been established 35 years ago. It has been in its present location on the Millway Rise Industrial Estate for over 7 years and in July 2010 it was taken over by present owners, Steve and Ros Hallworth.

The busy, large and well equipped premises has really benefitted from the Hallworth's at the helm; Steve and Ros have diverse backgrounds but the professional work ethic they bring means they have high expectations of their staff and believe in value for money. They intend to build up good relationships with their customers based on honesty and trust. No work is undertaken without prior discussion and the service is always friendly and helpful. They firmly believe that by giving you the full information, you can make a fully informed decision about your car.

Axe Valley Motors have recently invested in brand new top of the range machinery for tyre changing and total balancing, and will be stocking a new range of budget tyres - meaning problems with tyres can be sorted without breaking the bank! There are also premium tyres available if needed, with a free fitting service.

Axe Valley Motors have an excellent team of mechanics who deliver first class workmanship and reliability. They understand that your vehicle is important to you and their aim is to provide you with a first class service that keeps your car in tip top condition.

What better motto than "Trust us with your car" of Mary Bowles assisted by Debbie Bradley are bringing their pantomime characters to life.

If you have seen a panto in Seaton before then you know you are in for a quality amateur show which will have you singing, sighing and crying with laughter at the antics before you, though the cast are sent to sleep the audience certainly won't be!

Tickets are on sale at The Gateway, Seaton Town Hall Box Office - Tel 01297 625699. A couple of shows are practically sold out, but there are still some tickets available... don't miss out!

Opening night success for Jurassic Folk at new venue

AFTER nearly seven years at the Grove in Seaton, January 22nd saw the opening night for Jurassic Folk & Acoustic at its new home in Beer, and by any standards it was a roaring success.

Well over 70 people packed themselves into the function room of the Dolphin Hotel, and by the start of the evening it was standing room only as Mr Chairman, Ivor, went bustling about to find an extra chair or two. Organiser Peter Arnold enthused "The turnout exceeded everything we had hoped for, with lots of new faces, and it wasn't just the audience... we managed to fit in 16 different acts, all of a very high standard, and the crowd must have enjoyed it as they were still all there at 10.30pm after 3 hours!"

Peter said it would be invidious to pick out any particular performances, but to highlight the variety on offer there was Johnny Gudge from Chard with his virtuoso harmonica; the Amycrofters from Honiton with dance tunes and cheeky songs; the Bard of Seaton, Ted Dowse with his unique humour and fine singing; Olly & Jo from Exmouth, in the unlikely guise of Itchy Fingers and Twitchy Feet playing banjo and dancing Appalachian style. Thespian Tony Reader from Exeter wielded his hurdy gurdy; Robin Nancarrow's great self penned songs; and similar but very different by guitarist Greg Hancock; a couple of explosively rib-tickling recitations from Anita; and Dave Carrett from Taunton who, as well as singing a couple of his own funny songs, showed everyone how James Taylor's songs should be performed.

Altogether a great start to the new year and a new era, and it is set to happen on the third Wednesday of each month, so the next one will be on February 19th, 7.30pm prompt. To book a performance spot, or for further info call 01297 20064 or check out www.eastdevonfolk.org.

Strawbs back on the road...and in Budleigh!

IN THEIR 70s heyday Strawbs clocked seven consecutive releases on the US Billboard 100 album chart, selling over three million copies worldwide, to include 'Bursting at the Seams', 'Grave New World' and 'Hero and Villain', which they toured with rock giants Supertramp, and through their illustrious ranks have passed rock/pop luminati such as Rick Wakeman (later to play with Yes), Don Airey of Deep Purple, Hudson/Ford and the late, great, Sandy Denny.

"We actually came out of the folk clubs originally", Dave Cousins told the Pulman's View from recently, "but my main instrument at that time was the banjo... The Strawbs - originally the Strawberry Hill Boys - were the first Bluegrass band in Britain. We played around the folk club circuit and gradually evolved out of it. When the first album came out we decided to do the college circuit and the Underground clubs and we became more of an Underground group overnight without really realising what had happened!"

"The first person who was a massive influence on me was Lonnie Donegan, and I became very good friends with him, going round his house for cups of coffee and so on, and he showed me all the tapes that he'd collected his songs from... Woody Guthrie and Lead Belly songs, and after that we became good friends. He came to the White Bear Folk Club that we run at the time and sang along with the Strawbs on stage. It was one of the most exciting moments of my career."

Strawbs bring their full 5-piece electric line-up to the Public Hall in Budleigh on Sunday 9th February, with original front-line as it was in 1974, comprising leader David Cousins guitar & vocals, Dave Lambert lead guitar & vocals, and bass player Chas Cronk and will be joined by Adam Wakeman, son of original Strawbs keyman Rick Wakeman and one of the UK's hottest young keyboard players, and on drums by Adam Falkner who has been playing for the past year with Dido.

Strawbs, with special guests ex-Steeleye Span fiddle maestro Peter Knight and Gigs Spanner, will play in Budleigh Salterton this Sunday (February 9th).

Rising star Luke Jackson to play Axminster gig

"LUKE Jackson sings with an extraordinary rich voice and possesses a guitar technique astonishing for one so young. I first heard him sing four years ago, and even then his songwriting suggested a performer of rare promise." - Steve Knightley, Show of Hands.

Luke is a rising 19 year old roots singer/songwriter from Canterbury, Kent, and 2013 saw him nominated for both the Horozon Award for Best Emerging Talent, and the BBC Radio 2 Young Folk Award. With a bold, show-stopping voice and honed guitar skills, Luke is a confident and captivating performer demonstrating an astonishing maturity. He has been making ripples on the live acoustic scene, supporting such luminaries as Show of Hands, Paul Brady, Chris Wood, Steve Knightley, Lucy Ward and Boo Hewerdine, and playing Sidmouth, Bristol and Trowbridge festivals.

Luke Jackson plays at The Conservative Club, Axminster in the Function Room on Saturday, February 15th at 8pm. Tickets cost £10 (unreserved seating) and are available by calling 01297 32801 or visit www.wegotickets.com/event/255419

PARTICIPANTS NEEDED FOR THE DAY WE PLAYED BRAZIL

EXETER Community Arts Project is searching for 120 people from aged 11-99 to make and perform The Day We Played Brazil, the new musical play which is set to be the biggest cultural event in Exeter for many years. Central to the story are the 1914 Exeter City football team so project organisers are calling all young men out there who'd like to have a go at singing and dancing to come along and get involved. To complete the cast, there are performing roles for men and women, boys and girls aged over 11 to play the host of characters involved in telling this epic tale of Exeter, football and the 100 years since the Great War.

To find the 120 performers, a series of Workshop-Auditions will be held in February 2014, which will involve singing, dancing and acting as part of a large group. The Workshop-Auditions are open to people for whom this will be their first ever experience of taking part in a show, as well as those who have been on the stage before. There will be something for everyone who takes part in this production from smaller roles to larger roles, from solo singers to chorus.

No stage experience is necessary to take part, nor do participants have to be football fanatics; all you need is enthusiasm. This is a great chance to work alongside a highly experienced creative team to present the play in the Exeter Northcott Theatre in July 2015.

The Day we Played Brazil will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the football match between Exeter City and the Brazil national team - the first-ever game played by Brazil.

The production itself will open immediately after the 2014 World Cup, which is being held in Brazil, and will run for two weeks at Exeter Northcott Theatre.

If you are interested in auditioning for The Day We Played Brazil, or being involved backstage, please visit the project website, www.thedayweplayedbrazil.com for details.

Winter property market warms up

MARK Goodenough of Pennys Fine and Country reports a healthy demand through January from buyers keen to secure a move in 2014.

Mark commented 'Viewing numbers have held up well in the New Year despite the inclement weather and sales have resulted in all prices ranges from £100,000 to in and around £800,000. In fact this seems to be reflected across our network of 750 offices UK wide with, in East Devon particularly, a consistent stream of buyers moving west from the Home Counties.'

Q1: Is now a good time to be considering a move?

A1: Many prospective sellers traditionally wait until Easter or the Spring but I would recommend getting a free valuation now in order to be 'ahead of the pack' to launch before the Spring rush.

Q2: How extensive is the Pennys Fine and Country coverage?

A2: With many enquiries being received via the web these days we offer truly unrivalled coverage on all major websites including Rightmove (Premium listings available), Zoopla, Prime Location and of course www.pennys.net.

We also advertise extensively in the View From, Express & Echo and Western Morning News.

All of this is alongside our huge UK network of over 750 offices with a further 200 Fine and Country branches which are, in fact, located all over the world to pick up those international buyers!

Q3: How are prices and values faring in the current climate?

A3: Whilst many owners are hoping for a rise in the value of their home in 2014 we have yet to see a marked change in prices paid although we are achieving closer to our headline asking figure in many cases.

In essence, the market is driven by supply and demand so only time will tell. Certainly volumes of sales are up and with confidence rising we are hoping for a continued and sustainable recovery.

Feniton hopes hit by 9-man Saints

Adkin double lands Fishermen Recesses vital point

ROUND-UP DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE

DESPITE having two players red-carded ST MARTINS overcame reigning Premier champions FENITON 2-0 in front of Acland Park's biggest crowd this season, to move to within a point of leaders Newtown.

It was a victory the Saints thoroughly deserved despite their indiscretions and the home side seemed to lack the appetite for the contest.

Both first-half scorer Nathan Melton and midfielder Andy Brooks, who was also dismissed last season in the same match, were sent off by referee Bryan Perryman whose first-half patience eventually ran dry and left him with little choice.

Yet, despite the player loss, St Martins were never troubled by a very disappointing home side. Kevin Pike added to Melton's first-half strike, and St Martins were able to see the game out without further alarm.

For Feniton it looks like their season could be over unless they can rekindle last seasons fire and goal-power.

A minute's silence was held before the game in remembrance of Feniton chairman Colin Bishop who died two weeks ago.

BUDLEIGH SALTERTON consolidated third place with a 4-2 win at home to SEATON TOWN in what was an enjoyable and well played match.

Budleigh took an early through Aaron Denny and goals from Jack Greenslade and Karl Riddell saw them

A further goal from Calum Shipton put the Robins out of reach although Seaton did come back strongly with replies from Martyn Hancock and Jake Richards.

Both keepers played well, Alex Richardson for Budleigh making some excellent stops.

No matches were played in Division One and altogether a total of 48 league and one cup game failed to beat the weather.

The latter was the delayed Devon Intermediate Cup area semi final clash between Henrys Cronies and Starcross Generals which will now be switched to Starcross this coming Saturday.

At Sandy Lane DAWLISH UNITED staged the only Division Two game and played well to beat a battling TOPSHAM TOWN 4-1.

Dawlish felt they could have won by more but were happy to settle for goals from their four Js, Jackson Maloney, Johnny Emery, Joe Buckingham and substitute Jake Brock on his debut.

Ben Mogg slammed five goals inside ten minutes to help the UNIVERSITY win their Division Four match against visiting NORTH TAWTON.

At the break the college led with a Jamie Cullinane strike, but it was then the Moggy show and his cat-nap hand of five goals left Tawton feeling dog tired.

ST MARTINS second string made it a double delight for the club with a 3-1 win at COUNTESS WEAR DYNAMOES in Division

Five.

The other game played in this section saw BEER ALBION draw for the first time this season 2-2 against AMORY PARK RANGERS. Robert Adkin put Beer ahead and then bagged an equaliser after Rangers had struck twice.

Division Seven leaders OTTERTON also had to settle for a draw 1-1 against a struggling EAST BUDLEIGH side. Overall the result was fair with Simon Tuley getting the rollers goal.

KENTISBEARE had little trouble despatching LYMPSTONE 7-1 with both Steve Alfrod and Kris Roper getting a brace of goals. Liam Holmes, Dan Yates and Carlos Paiva also scored for Kentisbeare who are now right back among the leaders although they are a little further down the road.

◆ Last week's leading report on Otterton's Mitchell brothers looks like going down as folk-lore in the club.

Otterton secretary Andy Mitchell is actually uncle to Lee and Ryan, last week's goalscorers, but from this now on will be known as brother Andy and is loving his new found role.

OPG and Flamings continued on their winning ways with victories over Sidmouth Toucans and Signs South West respectively. Both losing sides played well and did enough to gain a point in defeat.

For OPG the star of the game in their 34-23 victory over Toucans was Carol Goddard whilst Emma Davey turned in a fine performance for the Sidmouth side.

Signs South West really needed their point from the match against Flamings and with Faye Hawkins getting back to her best on her return after her baby they did it.

The game started evenly and at half way SSW were only two goals in arrears, but in the third and final quarters Flamings, with Rachel Burrows in fine form moved ahead to finish winners by 31-18.

The crucial game of the evening was between Hi Q and Uplowman who are both chasing the points needed to maintain their first division status.

Hi Q got off to the better start and by half way were 21-11 in front thanks to good work from Kerri Calton.

The third quarter belonged to Uplowman as they reduced the deficit to 22-27 with Heather Adcock playing well.

The final period went goal for goal with both teams scoring seven so the score finished with a victory for Hi Q by 34-29.

Scores: Uplowman 29 Hi Q 34, Flamings 31 Signs South West 18, OPG 37 Sidmouth Toucans 23.

TIP Top Trees maintained their four-point lead at the top of the table thanks to their win by 34-21 over Howden Hawks.

This paid to the Hawks outside chances of promotion whilst it strengthened the chances of 3Ts making a return to the top flight.

With Phoebe Confrey playing well, the Trees had led from the start and although Alice Quick had a fine game for the Hawks they could not get back into the game.

Pixies continued their fine run of form with another victory that saw them move up into second place thanks to a victory over bottom placed Blackdown Ladies by 27-13.

Anna Boison took the honours for the Pixies whilst Rosie Cooke was the Ladies player to watch.

The closest game of the evening was the match between the third and fourth placed sides - Otter Valley Dairy and JD Tyres - who switched places as a result.

Both now have 26 points but JD have a superior goal difference.

Teenager awarded tennis county colours

SEATON Tennis Club's Emma Hurst and her coach Derek Blackmore were recognised at the Devon LTA AGM and Awards' night at Exeter's David Lloyd Tennis Centre on Wednesday evening.

Emma Hurst was awarded Devon LTA Junior County Colours for making an outstanding contribution to Devon Junior tennis. National Junior Emma is now ranked fifth nationally in the U18s, and 82nd nationally in the Women's Open rankings. She is the number one seed for the U18 Girls' Devon Team competing in the County Cup at Tarka, Barnstaple on 28th February. Emma's coach, Derek Blackmore, also received an award for being nominated as Devon Coach of the Year.

Emma was also runner up with a silver medal in the finals of the U18s National Tour Finals at Bath a few weeks ago.

The Colyton Grammar School student has also found time to qualify as an LTA Level 2 Coaching Assistant and hits with juniors and adults at the club.

Derek Blackmore was nominated for Devon Coach of the Year by Seaton Tennis Club for his positive contribution to adult tennis at the club, as well as his success with Emma and other juniors.

Derek's coaching sessions have welcomed large numbers of adults keen to improve their tennis skills, including 'rusty rackets' returning to tennis after time out, and individuals aspiring to match play.

He has encouraged team players with fun, energetic doubles coaching sessions; his skills and professionalism have certainly benefitted the Ladies B team as it is currently 36 points ahead of the nearest rival in its first season in the Winter League!

Derek also fosters tennis social gatherings, organising club tournaments, tennis weekends and holidays overseas. He has, in addition, over many years, supported and encouraged many young coaches beginning their tennis careers.

club profile raised

Chairman Andy Butcher praised both Derek and Emma's outstanding success and contributions to the development of the club, he said: "The profile of Seaton Tennis Club has been raised in Devon as the result of these awards which are thoroughly deserved, and I would like to thank them both for their significant contributions over the years."

Seaton Tennis Club's Open Day will be held on Saturday, April 5th.

Please see the website for further details www.seatontennis.net or contact Jeremy Warner, Membership Secretary, on seatontennis@gmail.com or 07973506312.

Honiton Town target county cup semi-finals

ONCE again the elements played havoc with the scheduled fixtures in the local football scene at the weekend. Both SIDMOUTH TOWN and AXMINSTER TOWN had their South-West Peninsula League Division One (east) games washed out.

Sidmouth will hope for better on Saturday when they are due to entertain new league leaders Galmpton United. Frustratingly Axminster have no game. It was a similar story in the Devon & Exeter and Perry Street & District Leagues with just eight matches surviving in each.

In the D&E Premier both FENITON and SEATON TOWN tasted defeat.

Fenny went down 2-0 on their own Acland Park turf against a St Martins side that had two players sent off but still moved to within a point of leaders Newtown.

Seaton lost ground on the top three when they slipped to a 4-2 reverse at Budleigh Salterton Reserves' Greenway Lane.

The Greens, playing uphill and against the wind in the first-half, found

By Howard Larcombe
howard@pemediaco.uk

themselves 3-0 down at the break.

The hosts, boosted by the inclusion of several eligible first-teamers, extended their lead after the turnaround before Seaton rallied with consolation goals from Martyn Hancock and Jake Richards.

Up at Furzebrake BEER ALBION RESERVES' bid to beat the drop from Division Five received a boost when they bagged a useful point by holding Amory Park Rangers to a 2-2 draw.

Next weekend, hopefully, brings some intriguing matches.

In the Premier both Seaton Town and Beer Albion have home fixtures against Thorverton and Clyst Valley respectively while Feniton are on the road against the Exeter University students.

SIDBURY UNITED are without a game in Division One while COLYTOWN will be bidding to put more distance between themselves and the bottom teams in Division Two when they entertain Halwill.

The big cup tie at the weekend sees HONITON TOWN attempting to reach the Devon Senior cup semi-finals when they travel to take on South Devon League Division One promotion chasers Dartmouth FC.

Back in the D&E League and in Division Three Axminster Town Reserves are due to take on Hemyock at Forton while OTTERY ST MARY visit Newtown Reserves and Sidmouth Town Reserves visit Woodbury. League leaders UPOTTERY, currently nine points clear, entertain Tedburn St Mary.

None of the local teams managed to play in the PSDL last weekend. MILLWEY RISE could break into the top four in the Premier Division with a win at relegation favourites Winsham United on Saturday with the clubs' Reserves teams meeting at Harry's Field.

FARWAY UNITED have no game while HAWKCHURCH UNITED, who failed to raise a team for the trip to Lyme Bantams, welcome Chard United Reserves.

SEATON Tennis Club's talented junior Emma Hurst and her coach Derek Blackmore were recognised at the Devon LTA AGM and Awards' night at Exeter's David Lloyd Tennis Centre on Wednesday evening.

Emma was awarded Devon LTA Junior County Colours for making an outstanding contribution to Devon Junior tennis. National Junior Emma is now ranked fifth nationally in the U18s, and 82nd nationally in the Women's Open rankings. Emma's coach, Derek, also received an award for being nominated as Devon Coach of the Year.
